FOR INFORMATION

4. Contribution Statements – For individuals contributing funds to the Presbytery through offerings or other monetary donations, a contribution statement has been prepared and will be made available on an honor system at the clerk's table at presbytery meetings, or through the Presbytery office for donations between meetings.
5. The property on Dalton Street in Azusa has been prepared for lease. There was a question from a potential lessee that the second floor be subleased. It was approved that subleasing of the second floor be allowed as long as the primary lessee remain responsible for the full amount of the lease.
6. The property in Pomona for the former South Hills church is on the market, but has been subject to vandalism. A former member of the church, Don Sevesind, has been visiting and making repairs to the property as needed. The Trustees of the Presbytery has compensated him for this. When the property is sold, one third of the proceeds will go to a new church development that continues the legacy of South Hills, and $1,000,000 will be used to pay down the loan on the Temple City property.

7. First Presbyterian Church Rosemead has moved to their new building in La Puente. They are vetting a new name, Puente de Esperanza (Bridge of Hope).
8. The Irwindale property is in escrow and should close some time in June. A gift of at least $50,000 will be given to Mideast Evangelical Church to offset some of the funds they invested in the Irwindale property. $600,000 will go back into the Presbytery's reserves, to replenish what was used for the down payment on Temple City.
9. The Temple City property at 9723 Garibaldi Avenue has closed escrow and is now owned by the Presbytery, thanks to PILP staff in approving and funding the loan in a very short period of time. The presbytery office has moved into the property, thanks to the heroic efforts of Twila French and the rest of the staff.
10. The Executive Commission discussed plans for the June 17th Work Day. The offering that day will go to the Tapestry Youth Collective, who will join the Presbytery for the Work Day.
